IN THE ROUGH.

JAN 22 1927

After several mishaps and trials, Al, knowing that he'll always be a duffer, gives up golf and returns to his gardening. His live stock has been bitten by the golf bug, and torment Al by slicing the ball in his direction. Even the mice and the flies can't help but tease him with their game.

Slippery Sam, a slick salesman, sells Al an explosive golf ball. Al drives it at the house. The house explodes, and Al, thinking his troubles over, is laughing heartily. Alas, the explosion has only driven the mice into the air and they come down on old Al's head.

AESOP SAYS:

"YOU DON'T HAVE TO BE CRAZY TO PLAY GOLF, BUT IT HELPS."
